- Growing Islamophobia in Europe: Recent developments in Germany, Sweden and France (ENAR): Islamophobia is a specific form of racism that refers to acts of violence and discrimination, as well as racist speech, fuelled by historical abuses and negative stereotyping and leading to exclusion and dehumanisation of Muslims, and all those perceived as such. ENAR's yearly shadow reports on racism in Europe have provided evidence of discrimination and stigmatization of Muslims and in particular as the result of hate crime, racial profiling, counter-terrorism policies, discriminatory laws preventing access in some areas of life like education and employment, and populist discourses by politicians and in the media. This paper looks at the European context of Islamophobia, it gives examples of hate crime incidents and calls on European policy makers to respond.

WORKING WITH LGBTI+ YOUNG PEOPLE

Key resource from the NYCI Equality and Intercultural Programme:

- Access All Areas Diversity Toolkit: Chapter 3 - Working with LGBTI+ Young People.
www.youth.ie/wp-content/uploads/2019/05/Chapter-3-Working-with-LGBTI-Young-People.pdf

General resources:

- BeLonG To: Creating LGBTI+ Inclusive Schools and Youth Services: This 3 hour free online training on creating an environment that is safe and welcoming for the LGBTI+ young people that you work with. This training includes videos, exercises and quizzes to equip you at becoming better at listening to, understanding, responding to and supporting LGBTI+ young people.
www.belongto.org/online-training-for-youth-services-and-schools/
- BeLonG To: Stand Up Week Resources: Stand Up Awareness Week is a time for schools to take a stand against bullying that LGBTI+ students experience. This page provides resources from previous years which could be used or adapted for the youth work setting.

- Focus Ireland: A Qualitative Study of LGBTIQ+ Youth Homelessness in Ireland: A research report on the experiences of LGBTIQ+ young people experiencing homelessness in Ireland https://belongto.org/wp-content/uploads/2020/09/LGBTIQI-Youth-Homelessness-Report_FINAL-VERSION.pdf
- Lesson Plan: International Day Against Homophobia and Transphobia: Each student has a right to learn in a safe space. Bullying, whatever the motivation, is a violation of that right. Educators play a central role in preventing bullying in schools. They act every day to create safer spaces and have often developed innovative approaches to tackling sexuality-related bullying in general, and homophobia/ transphobia in particular, in their classes. This pack contains 2 exercises for primary school children, and 2 exercises for post-primary school children.

Key organisations:

- Jigsaw: Jigsaw is Ireland's national mental health organisation for young people aged 12-25. They provide support for young people, and resources and advice for those working with young people.

<https://jigsaw.ie/>

General resources:

- Mind your selfie project and resources (St Patricks Mental Health Service): from this webpage there is a number of very good linked resources for both primary and secondary school which could be easily adapted as tools for youth services. There are presentations on mental health, a wellness calendar, activities, journals, videos and other inventive resources for tackling the topic of mental health with young people, or talking to a young person when you think they may be struggling with a mental health issue currently.

www.walkinmyshoes.ie/campaigns/mindyourselfie/mindyourselfie-resources

- A Mental Health Resource for Youth Workers and Volunteers (Headstrong): This resource is intended to offer a "user friendly" entry point into what can sometimes be a complex mental health service and how to help young people struggling with their mental health. It can be difficult as a youth worker to know your place in this process and this resource aims to support you to work through this, linking to helpful information where possible.

www.foroige.ie/sites/default/files/Youth%20Mental%20Health%20Resource.pdf

- Mind Your Head (Youth Work Ireland Cork): this resource is designed specifically for youth workers, leaders and peer educators. It is a seven session resource, but each session can be done individually or followed from one to seven as a programme covering various mental health concerns. There is some advice in terms of safeguarding concerns and the resource is designed to be used without needing any extra funding to do so.

<http://myh.ie/facilitator/>

- My World Survey (UCD/Jigsaw): this website outlines the research from Ireland's largest study of young people's mental health and wellbeing. Some of the information, displayed in colourful graphics, may be helpful if you are trying to understand the picture of youth mental health in Ireland, or explain the importance of mental health promotion to someone.
- How to promote mental wellbeing in youth work practice (Right Here): This guide is aimed at youth organisations working with young people aged 16–25. Its objective is to help to embed mental wellbeing improvement practices within the organisations. It provides examples of Right Here's work and lessons from this.

WORKING WITH YOUNG WOMEN AND YOUNG MEN TO CHALLENGE GENDER STEREOTYPES

Key resource from the NYCI Equality and Intercultural Programme:

- Access All Areas Diversity Toolkit: Chapter 11 - Working with Young Women and Young Men to Challenge Gender Stereotypes.

www.youth.ie/wp-content/uploads/2020/09/Chapter-11-working-with-young-women-and-young-men-to-challenge-gender-stereotypes-all-Ireland.pdf

General resources:

- Prejudice and Stereotype Lesson (UK Equality and Human Rights Commission, 2016): This resource created for 12-18 yr olds includes an interactive power point (Lesson 5) which aims to reveal participants own prejudicial and stereotypical views in order to introduce the concepts. It focuses specifically on gender and how this intersects with other aspects of identity. Participants explore stereotypes of different genders and of teenagers to 4 appreciate how it feels to be labeled. This enables them to empathise with other groups that can be stereotyped and to challenge the negative labels.

www.equalityhumanrights.com/en/secondary-education-resources/lesson-plan-ideas/lesson-5-prejudice-and-stereotypes

- Gender specific toys: do you stereotype children? The toys children play with have an impact not only on how they see themselves and on what skills they learn, but also on how their brains physically develop. Some psychologists argue that this helps to explain why certain professions are so male-dominated. An increasing number of parents and carers now say they try to avoid gender-stereotyped play. As this experiment shows, though, it's not always easy to overcome your own prejudices.

- The Gender Book Project: The Gender Book is a publication that aims to educate all age groups about gender, sexuality, etc. in an accessible and friendly format. This illustrated book (available as a free e-book, a condensed pamphlet or a hardback book) makes addressing gender, sexuality, sex, etc.- in all of its many manifestations- a core aspect of practice through its universally applicable style. This is an invaluable resource for practitioners and groups who are at the early stages of critically engaging with gender and sexuality.
